

Programme and Project Manager

Delivering benefits from complex organisational change

Prioritise activities. Control Programmes & Projects. Realise benefits.

Your Challenge

You face three key challenges in delivering benefits from your Programmes & Projects:

- Scope: ensuring clear scope of what needs to be achieved and making sure it is managed
- Complexity: implementing effective programme and project governance without bureaucracy and complexity
- People: taking into account the 'human factors' of personal agendas, aspirations, relationships, priorities and emotions

A portfolio of change programmes and projects can feel like it is becoming complex, unmanageable and out of alignment with your strategic priorities.

Our Solution

Sirius Partners has many years' experience of successful delivery of complex multi-organisation change programmes and can bring this experience and expertise to add immediate value to your organisation. We can help with all aspects of programme and project management including design, start-up, delivery, risk and issue management and benefits realisation.

This will ensure that you:

- Focus on the priorities - With finite resources it is essential that your time is spent on those activities that bring you the greatest benefit
- Manage risks and issues - Clearly identify and mitigate your potential and actual issues
- Ensure corporate visibility - By aligning your projects and programmes with your overall strategic priorities and ensuring effective reporting mechanisms
- Deliver benefits - Using a structured approach which ensures rapid return on investment

How our Programme and Project Management approach will add value

- Ensures alignment of project priorities with corporate objectives by working closely with your stakeholders
- Introduces an approach based on programme and project management best-practice but customised to your specific requirements
- Establishes effective identification and management of risks and issues, with clear escalation processes
- Provides clear documentation to ensure effective control throughout the project life-cycle
- Delivers skilled and experienced resources in order to ensure successful achievement of your goals

Why Sirius Partners?

The Sirius Partners team has an impressive pedigree in management of complex change programmes, and have many years' experience of delivering significant benefits. Our credentials include:

- Significant hands-on experience of ensuring programmes and projects deliver value to organisations
- An understanding that every penny counts and that the NHS faces significant financial and delivery challenges
- An in-depth understanding of the politics, structures and complexity of the NHS
- With a relentless focus on a remarkable customer experience we will deliver outstanding return-on-investment
- A keen awareness of the need to support strategic objectives and for effective programme/project management
- As ex-NHS Directors, tax payers and patients, we are passionate about making a difference in the NHS

Contact us

To find out how to get the most from your information and IT contact Neil Stevens on:
+44 (0) 7806 664603 or email info@siriuspartners.co.uk
www.siriuspartners.co.uk